

AL AIN WILDLIFE PARK AND RESORT/NATIONAL BOTANICAL GARDEN

ABU DHABI EMIRATE, UNITED ARAB EMIRATES

AL AIN WILDLIFE PARK AND RESORT

The Al Ain Wildlife Park and Resort/National Botanical Garden is an internationally recognized tribute to the legacy of Shiek Zayed bin Sultan Nahyan. It serves as a leading example of conservation and sustainable design for the United Arab Emirates.

Through this special place, visitors will come to appreciate the resources and beauty of the world's deserts. They will better understand the value of caring for these fragile environments, and the need to learn from the cultures and traditions that have sustained them.

The Al Ain Wildlife Park and Resort/National Botanical Garden will create an emotional connection between visitors, animals, and their habitats.

FACTS

950 acres comprising four desert safari areas —North Kenyan-Northern Saharan, Kalahari, Arabian, Northern Central Asian desert habitats

36-acre world-deserts walking area—African, Arabian, Asian, Sonoran, UAE, Australian

Programs reintroducing dozens of native endangered species in deserts worldwide

National botanical garden and arboretum with conversation programs for desert plant species

"Caring for the environment is one of the essential ingredients of our history and heritage. Our forefathers lived in this land, in co-existence and respect, knowing the need to preserve it, taking only what they needed from it, and saving what would be useful for the coming generations."

—Sheikh Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan